If you take all the file titles and throw them into Voyant youâ€™ll see the word â€˜staffâ€™ figures prominently, reflecting the fact that many of them are personnel files. Surely these might have mapped to the privacy provisions of section 33(1)(g)? From there things get even more complicated. Just as in quantum theory, by observing the phenomena of pre-access recorder, I have changed it.

However, if you are discussing, for example, the historical context in which the episode originally aired, you should cite the full date. Because you are specifying the date of airing, you would then use WB Television Network (rather than Mutant Enemy), because it was the network (rather than the production company) that aired the episode on the date youâ€™re citing.
