For centuries, there has been a movement to reform the spelling of English. It seeks to change English spelling so that it is more consistent, matches pronunciation better, and follows the alphabetic principle. Common motives for spelling reform include quicker, cheaper learning, thus making English more useful for international communication.

Many of the differences between American and British English date back to a time when spelling standards had not yet developed. For instance, some spellings seen as "American" today were once commonly used in Britain and some spellings seen as "British" were once commonly used in the United States.

And what comes next is the name of the employee we want to find more information about. As a lookup value, you can either type in the name (e.g. "Nate Harris") or put in a reference to the cell where you type in the name. The last option is usually the best and our sheet is setup to have the name entered in cell F2.
